Speed cushions back for another year

By Bill Rea

There might not be a lot of enthusiasm, but there is acceptance that speed cushions are going to be a reality in the west part of town this year, including in Belfountain.

About 20 people were on hand for a meeting in Belfountain last week on the method to calm traffic. Speed cushions was the main item on the agenda, but the discussion gravitated to several other traffic related issues, with officials from the Town, Peel Region and Caledon OPP on hand.

Joe Avsec, manager of traffic engineering with the Region, said they were interested in a “frank discussion,” on the matter.

“We’re here to listen,” he said. “We won’t make any final decisions yet.”

But Councillor Barb Shaughnessy called for a quick show-of-hands vote, and found most of the people at the meeting supported the cushions.

He also stressed one of the nice things about speed cushions is they’re not permanent. They’re portable and inexpensive, as well as designed so emergency vehicles can get by them without slowing down.

“It’s a single installation,” he said. “We can do it in a morning.”

Avsec also observed they can easily be removed for winter, so they won’t be damaged by snow plows.

Cushions are generally installed in rural areas with lower posted speed limits (50 km-h or lower) where there are concerns about excessive speeding. Avsec said historically, they result in an average 11 per cent reduction in speeds.

Speed cushions are currently used in five places in town, with some of them already installed. They are used on Bush Street, near Belfountain Public School, three locations on Forks of the Credit Road and on Olde Base Line Road, near the Cheltenham Badlands.

They are also easier to drive over than the more traditional speed bumps.

“They are really smooth to go over,” Avsec said. “They’re a little less intrusive.”

Speed cushions are installed in three components, allowing for space for the wheels of emergency vehicles to get through. The installation is about seven feet long, six feet wide and roughly three inches in height. There are warning signs posted, as well as pavement markings warning drivers to slow down.

Avsec said they go in areas where there are documented issues with speeding, on the order of 25 km-h over the posted limit. Their positioning also requires adequate sightlines.

“We can’t just put them anywhere,” he said, adding there has to be enough time for emergency vehicles to see them and steer through the gaps. “We work with these guys. We don’t want to cause them any grief.”

William Toy, supervisor of traffic safety with the Region, pointed out locating the cushions is a little tricky because of the sight lines and the fact there aren’t many straight-aways in the area.

He also stressed they are not hard to get over.

“We wanted something that was a little more forgiving,” he said, adding that since they’re made of rubber, not much noise is made when cars go over them.

Not everyone was sold. One man argued the 11 per cent speed reduction was not good enough, arguing more enforcement is the way to go.

“Every little bit helps,” Inspector Tim Melanson, commander of Caledon OPP observed. “Hopefully, we’re going to hit this problem from all angles.”

“Eleven per cent might not sound like a lot, but it can make the difference between life and death,” one woman remarked.

Avsec said the main problem with the cushions involves noise, usually caused when a trailer is being pulled over them. There are also issues with cars braking hard when they come to them, then revving once they’re past them. Toy added the installation and maintenance is a little labour intensive. There are

Two Bolton men slain in Wasaga Beach

Police in Wasaga Beach are looking into separate incidents over the week-end which saw two men from Bolton stabbed to death.

Huron West OPP reports the first incident took place at about 10:35 p.m. Saturday night near a Pizza Pizza outlet on Mosley Street.

Police did not release the name of the 18-year-old victim, but numerous published reports stated he was Francesco Molinaro.

Police did release the name of the second victim.

He is Erick Tello Arias, 23.

They report the attack took place Monday at about 3:30 a.m. on Main Street in Wasaga Beach, near Skull Island.

The investigations are continuing and police have asked anyone with information to contact them.

Shaughnessy is not planning to run for the Grits

By Bill Rea

Rumours are making the rounds that Caledon Councillor Barb Shaughnessy is planning to run for the Liberals in the next Provincial election.

Shaughnessy is on a crusade to put a stop to these stories.

She brought the issue up at Tuesday's Town council meeting, stating she had a meeting last week with Dufferin-Caledon MPP Sylvia Jones, at which she said Jones had confirmed hearing of such stories.

Shaughnessy was elected regional representative for Ward 1 a little more than a year and a half ago, and she said she's still committed to the people who put her in office.

"I have no intention of abandoning them," she declared.

Shaughnessy has also written a letter to Progressive Conservative Leader Patrick Brown (copies of which she distributed to the media Tuesday night), informing him that party members are hearing stories of her plans to run against Jones in the next election, calling those stories "blatantly false."

She added this story line involves negotiations between her husband and a developer to finance her campaign.

"For many in Caledon, this developer is viewed negatively," she wrote.

Come learn about what it takes to be a pilot

The Brampton Flight Centre (BFC) invites all students aged 13 to 23 to take part in their annual Career Day in Aviation May 28, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Career Day in Aviation connects kids' dreams of becoming a pilot with the real world of aviation. For a registration fee of $30 (plus HST), students can take a:

- 20-minute flight over the Caledon Hills (three per aircraft depending on weight),
- 30-minute introductory ground school, covering the highlights of a career in aviation and the steps to get there,
- Lunch: sandwich, drink and snack,
- Take Flight Competition. Submit an essay on why you want to be a pilot and you may qualify for one of five fully paid BFC Private Pilot Ground School (value $399 plus HST).

Students will not only experience first-hand BFC's state-of-the-art flight school, but also meet with instructors and discover the latest career opportunities in aviation.

Career Day in Aviation offers a totally immersive experience in a fun and relaxed environment that combines the love of flight with learning.

Reserve a spot by contacting Veronica Draghici at 905-838-1400, ext. 228, or by email at takeflight@bramfly.com

"The rumour is a complete fabrication," Shaughnessy declared in her letter.

"It is malicious in nature and potentially disruptive to the harmony between me and other levels of government that I interact with as a councillor for the Town of Caledon and the Region of Peel."

Shaughnessy has called upon Brown to investigate the source of the rumour.

"Your party should not be used as a vehicle for a select group of people to meddle in local politics," she stated. "I look forward to hearing from your office on the actions you propose to take."

CHELT CHICKS AT IT AGAIN

Kim Bernard (seen here holding the accordion) had lots of help recently hosting the annual yard sale at her Terra Cotta home to raise money for the Walk to End All Cancers, which will be run by Princess Margaret Cancer Centre in September. She was joined by fellow Chelt Chicks Cheryl Mills and Martha McLellan, both of Cheltenham, as well as Susan McCloy from Toronto. This is the 11th year they have held the sale, and over that time, they have raised close to $70,000.

Stage is set for the annual Craft Beer and Food Truck Festival

By Mark Pavilons

The party of the season is soon to arriving.

King’s annual Craft Beer and Food Truck Festival takes place June 11 at the King City Memorial Park, behind the arena.

It’s a day filled with good eats, great beverages and live entertainment. It runs from noon to 9:30 p.m.

This year’s event features 12 craft breweries, up from the nine who were on hand last year. The enthusiastic support from the industry helps kick off Craft Beer Week that runs June 10 to 19.

Providing the food will be 13 gourmet trucks, offering everything from burgers and nachos to pasta and Mexican food.

According to Councillor Cleve Mortelitti, they had to increase the number of spaces for the food trucks due to the demand. They had 25 applicants for the 13 spots.

“The event has gotten very popular and the food truck industry has caught onto that, so we had to make some tough choices in turning some really great trucks away,” he said.

The headliner this year is Hollerado, hitting the main stage. Other performers on tap include Justin Parsons, Stacey Renee, Phil and John, Samara York McLean and Vassos, Rhymes with Hits, The Clearing, Funky Funk Band and Krista Ferguson.

Tickets are $10 online and $15 at the gate. For the music event, tickets are $5 both online and at the gate.

Entry into the event will include access to food trucks, breweries, and live music, a six-ounce collectable glass (first 1,500 attendees only), three drink tokens (additional tokens can be purchased on site for $1 to $2 each).

For $25, you can get the Lions Combo Pass (for people aged 19 and older) and receive everything the Craft Beer Event pass plus one automatic entry into the King City Lions $15,000 charity draw. The draw will take place at the event at 6 p.m. and the top prize is $2,500.

As well, the Lions will be holding a raffle for a high-end Weber barbecue, which combines charcoal and gas. Tickets are available at the event only.

It’s an event that’s not to be missed.

Three motorcycle drivers and one motorcycle passenger were killed in preventable collisions on OPP-patrolled roads over the long Victoria Day weekend.

OPP reports this brings the motorcycle fatality total for 2016 to nine. Police are concerned the death toll will mount further on Ontario highways, unless all drivers respect each other.

They urge people to drive defensively. Leave adequate space between all vehicles. Respect the speed limit and never drive impaired. Remember that motorcycles are smaller, but increasingly popular. Car drivers need to check carefully for motorcycles and all vehicles before changing lanes or turning.

As the days are getting longer, more Ontarians enjoy getting out and participating in leisure outdoor activities on provincial roads, waterways and trails. This is especially true now with the warmer weather arriving. With the increase in outdoor activities, OPP historically sees an increase in the number of serious injuries and fatalities.

In April, OPP investigated 26 fatalities, which is the highest number for this month since 2009. This year, OPP officers have already investigated eight marine related fatalities and the boating season is only just beginning.

In Ontario, summer is an ideal time to enjoy the outdoors, but these activities need to be enjoyed responsibly and with everyone's personal safety in mind. Alcohol, drugs, aggressive behaviour and distraction continue to be causal factors in many of these tragedies. Those who are travelling by car, boat, ATV or motorcycle must remember to wear a seatbelt, life jacket or helmet.

Citizen's report leads to charges

A 25-year-old Brampton man is facing theft charges after an April 12 incident.

Caledon OPP reports they were called out to investigate a man who drove a stolen truck onto a trucking compound on Centreville Creek Road. He failed to identify himself to security and went on the property. He then apparently connected his truck to a trailer carrying cargo valued at more than $34,000.

OPP will be out patrolling the highways, waterways and trails this summer, trying to ensure everyone's safety. But officers cannot do it alone. Those who see a suspected impaired, dangerous or distracted driver are asked to call 9-1-1. Remember, it is everyone's collective responsibility to speak-up to ensure public safety.

tempted to leave the property. While security was verifying his credentials, the man apparently drove off with the trailer.

Police conducted multiple interviews at the scene, assisted by the Street Crime Unit.

The truck and trailer were recovered in Brampton.

The man was charged with two counts of theft over $5,000.

An 84-year-old woman died Friday of injuries she received after being hit by a motorcycle on Airport Road.

Caledon OPP reports Suzana Krum-poles was crossing the road north of King Street when she was struck by the southbound motorcycle shortly before noon. She was being transported to hospital by ambulance and died while on the way.

The driver of the motorcycle received minor injuries.

The incident is still under investigation.

Police are reminding people that as the warm weather is here, more motorcycles will be on the local roads. They remind residents that when a motorcycle is in motion, a driver of an automobile may be unable to receive as much information about movement and speed due to the narrowness of a motorcycle, and given that a motorcycle only has a single head light. It is important to be mindful that a motorcycle can be less exposed on the roadway, particularly in relation to depth and speed perception as a result of a motorcycle being smaller in size (principally from the front) when compared to automobiles.

A 30-year-old woman from Ajax was charged with excessive speeding in the area of Mayfield Secondary School May 10.

Caledon OPP reports an officer was conducting radar enforcement on Mayfield Road when he spotted a white 2011 Mazda going 116 km-h in a posted 60 zone.

The woman's licence was lifted on the spot for seven days and the car was impounded for seven days.

Police said the Ministry of Transportation states that “fines are doubled in Community Safety Zones, near schools and public areas. These areas are clearly marked with signs.”

Police remind motorists that speeding, following too closely, making unsafe lane changes and failing to yield right-of-way are all forms of aggressive driving. These actions place all road users at risk.

Construction set to begin on Headwaters expansion and renovation

Construction is set to begin this month on Headwaters Health Care Centre’s transformative expansion and renovation project, signaling a significant step forward in increasing access to important health care services for the growing community.

The addition of the new space is the first major expansion of the hospital since it opened at its current location in 1997. A new, 8,200 square foot extension will be home to much-needed clinics, services and programs like chemotherapy, minor procedures, orthopaedics and telemedicine. Headwaters is also taking on an exciting renovation of existing hospital space to add another operating room, improve reception and expand pre- and post-surgical recovery areas.

“This is an exciting time for the hospital, and for the community,” said Headwaters Board of Directors Chair Rob Hamilton. “With this important project underway, we will be able to deliver on our Vision of an Exceptional Experience Every Time and provide greater access to the programs and services — like cancer care and day surgery — that are needed most by patients and families.”

Following a highly competitive bid process, Headwaters, in conjunction with the Ministry of Health and Long-Term Care, selected Merit Contractors Niagara as the successful contractor for the expansion and redevelopment project. Merit has more than 30 years of experience and expertise in managing a full range of commercial, industrial and institutional building projects, including the development of health care centres across Ontario.

“This achievement has only been made possible through the extraordinary support from our community and generous donors, a strong commitment from our government partners, and the dedication of Headwaters’ staff, physicians and volunteers,” said Headwaters President and CEO Liz Ruegg. “Our renovation and expansion of key programs and services will enable us to continue to provide that patient-focused, exceptional experience close to home. This is outstanding news for our community.”

A formal ground-breaking ceremony will be held at Headwaters Health Care Centre today (Thursday) from 2 to 3 p.m.

More information about the ground breaking event can be found on the Headwaters website at www.headwatershealth.ca/

Volunteers needed for Homes Campaign

Peel is participating in the 20,000 Homes Campaign.

This is a national campaign that aims to house 20,000 of the most vulnerable individuals across Canada by July 2018.

A variety of community partners in Peel are working together on this campaign and are conducting a Registry Week June 4 to 10. The purpose of Registry Week is to do a “count” of all the homeless and vulnerably housed individuals in Peel, and to do a survey with each individual to determine what each persons’ unique needs are. This information will be used to better triage individuals into housing services and supports.

Organizers are looking for volunteers (18 years of age and older) to support them with this process. There are three ways to get involved: Be on a survey team and conduct the survey with homeless individuals alongside front line staff; assist in entering the data collected by the survey teams; or volunteer to support the logistics of Registry Week.

Those who are interested are asked to register at www.20khomespeel.ca/get-involved/volunteer

There will be a mandatory training session taking place June 4. Participants can attend either the morning or afternoon session.

For more information on the 20,000 Homes Campaign in Peel, visit the website at www.20khomespeel.ca

Central West LHIN

PAS 1671 - PUBLIC NOTICE
BOARD MEMBER RECRUITMENT

Exciting Opportunities Exist to Join the Board Of Directors of the Central West Local Health Integration Network

A mosaic of geographic and cultural diversity and home to over 922,000 local residents, the Central West LHIN plans, integrates, funds and monitors the local health care system for the regions of Brampton, Caledon, Dufferin, Malton, north Etobicoke and west Woodbridge. Together with local Health Service Providers and community partners (hospitals, the Central West Community Care Access Centre, community-based support services, long-term care facilities, mental health and addictions agencies, physicians, family health teams, community health centres, and broader public health and social services sectors), the Central West LHIN is working to put people and patients first by improving their health care experience and their health outcomes.

Members of the Central West LHIN Board of Directors are responsible for directing its affairs and providing oversight in accordance with applicable legislation, approved strategic and business plans, accountability agreements with the Ministry of Health and Long-Term Care (MOHLTC) and the directions and policies as established by the MOHLTC.

We will have three Board vacancies in 2016; one occurring in June, 2016, and the other two in October.

We will be focusing our search on candidates who possess the following attributes:

- Understand governance and, ideally, have governance experience,
- Understand the mandate of Ontario’s LHINs,
- Demonstrate community leadership,
- Have an interest in or understanding of the health care system,
- Have experience in engaging with the public,
- Reside within the Central West Regions and in particular, the City of Brampton, Town of Caledon and/or Dufferin County.

Specifically, we are looking for candidates with experience and/or background in the areas of:

- Health Care
- Finance/Accounting
- Human Resources
- Law
- Communications

Members of the public who represent the linguistic, cultural and geographic diversity of the LHIN region including representatives from the Francophone and Aboriginal (Indigenous Peoples) communities, are encouraged to apply for this vacancy.

Most Central West LHIN Board and Committee meetings are held in Brampton in the evenings but they do, from time to time, move around to other communities within our LHIN. Serving on a LHIN Board is a part-time position, but it does require a significant time commitment, often involving meetings and/or teleconferences during and outside of normal business hours. Candidates should consider their ability to make such a commitment as part of their decision to express their interest in serving on the LHIN Board.

Directors are paid a per diem to attend Board and Committee meetings and public engagement meetings which also includes preparation time. In addition, appointees are eligible for expenses consistent with applicable government policies.

If you, or someone you know, might be interested in exploring these exciting opportunities to help transform our local health system, we would be happy to set up a personal meeting with our Board Chair, Maria Britto.

Candidates are required by legislation to apply through the Public Appointments Secretariat at www.pas.gov.on.ca.

All applications must quote the file number PAS-1671 and be received by the closing date. If not applying online, applications must be signed and received by email, fax, mail or hand delivery no later than June 3, 2016. Only applicants selected for an interview will be contacted. All application forms quoting file number must be addressed to:

Public Appointments Secretariat
Room 2440, Whitney Block
99 Wellesley St. West, Toronto, ON M7A 1W4
Fax: 416-327-2633

Downloadable application form is available at www.pas.gov.on.ca. Alternatively you can apply online.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Municipal Class Environmental Assessment Schedule 'A+' Various Locations – Road Stabilization

THE STUDY:

The Town of Caledon has initiated a study for the following locations. Road and culvert improvements are required to prolong the service life of the culvert structures, and to enhance roadside safety for the below mentioned locations:

The Grange Sideroad

For the road stabilization and culvert replacement on the Grange Sideroad, approximately 0.7 km west of Mountainview Road.

Mississauga Road

For the slope stabilization and road reconstruction at Mississauga Road South, approximately 2.3 km south of Charleston Sideroad.

Kennedy Road

For the road stabilization and culvert replacement on Kennedy Road, approximately 0.24 km south of Highpoint Sideroad.

Innis Lake Road

For the road stabilization and culvert replacement on Innis Lake Road, approximately 0.2 km south of Finnerty Sideroad.

Finnerty Sideroad

For the road stabilization and culvert replacement on Finnerty Sideroad, approximately 0.3 km west of The Gore Road.

THE PROCESS:

The Municipal Class Environmental Assessment process (October 2000, as amended in 2007, 2011 & 2015) is approved under the Ontario Environmental Assessment Act and allows municipalities to follow a Class EA process when undertaking municipal infrastructure projects.

The aforementioned projects are being carried out as a Schedule 'A+' undertaking. A Schedule 'A+' activity is pre-approved under the Class EA by the Ministry of the Environment and Climate Change and the project can be implemented upon public notification of the project.

The public is invited to provide comments for consideration in the planning and design of this project, and comments will be received until June 17, 2016. Subject to comments received and obtaining the necessary approvals, the Town of Caledon intends to proceed with the planning and design of the project, with a construction date to be determined subject to funding.

An integral component of this project is to undertake direct consultation with affected stakeholders, agencies and the general public. As such, a Public Information Centre (PIC) will be scheduled later this year, during which the Project Team will present conceptual design information relative to the project and address any questions or concerns. Once a date and time for the PIC has been confirmed, an additional notice will be circulated to local residents.

If you have any questions or comments about the project, please contact one of the following Project Team Members for more information:

National Access Awareness Week

May 29 – June 4, 2016

National Access Awareness Week began in 1988 to honour Rick Hanson. In 1985, he began a two-year 40,000 km journey through 34 countries in his wheelchair to raise awareness about the need for accessibility for people with disabilities. Since then, communities across Canada have continued Hansen's mission during the last week of May.

Did you know?

- 15% of Ontarians live with some form of a disability;
- approximately 10% of the Caledon population has some form of a disability;
- individuals with disabilities are impacted daily by barriers to accessible information, independent access to facilities, to employment, transportation and accessible communication supports;
- the Town of Caledon's Accessibility Advisory Committee is a citizen volunteer committee dedicated to the identification, removal and prevention of barriers for persons with disabilities;

National Access Awareness Week is an opportunity to celebrate accessibility and increase our efforts to achieve our goal of becoming a fully-accessible community and province.

Community police office in Belfountain should help with enforcement

plications finding places to store them in the winter.

Other traffic issues were on the minds of several people at the meeting.

One woman mentioned Forks of the Credit Road, which had been closed for some time, recently re-opened, with lots of motorcycles speeding along the route.

“It was like a speedway back and forth,” she declared.

A man added the motorcycles are able to easily get through the gaps in the cushion.

Toy pointed out there’s not much that can be done to prevent them from using the gaps. “They’re another lawful vehicle on the road,” he said, adding cushions are also easier for bicycles to get by.

There were complaints about the speed problems on Mississauga Road, south of the hamlet. One man called the situation “absolutely insane.”

But he was also opposed to the idea of the cushions.

“I’m totally against speed bumps,” he declared. “You have no right to inflict me.

I’m not a speeder. There’s a better way of doing it.”

He suggested making the whole area, from Caledon Mountain Drive to the stretch of Mississauga Road north of the hamlet, as well as Bush Street, a community safety zone.

Toy said that would be a bylaw issue, adding it’s important to make sure the speed limits that are set are also realistic. Enforcement is an important part of it too, since police can’t be in the problem areas all the time. that’s another advantage with the speed cushions, be they are there constantly.

“They are a bit of a pain if you live in the neighbourhood, and they’re not pretty,” he admitted, but he also pointed out the 11 per cent speed reduction is a benefit.

Melanson, said enforcement issues should soon be improving, as the detachment will be opening a community office in Belfountain early in July. There will be two officers, as well as a traffic officer assigned there, and he said the residents will be seeing them often. “The cruisers will be parked right out in front,” he added.

Peel Region officials say there are a number of advantages to speed cushions, such as this installation on Forks of the Credit Road.

Waste exemption period offered by Peel

Beginning this week until June 3, Peel residents are offered a waste exemption period on their regularly scheduled garbage collection day for acceptable excess garbage.

Excess garbage will not be collected if it is placed at the curb on residents recycling week.

Residents are encouraged to visit peel-region.ca/waste to check their collection calendar for their garbage exemption day.

During the waste exemption period, residents who receive curbside collection can place unlimited amounts of acceptable excess garbage at the curb without garbage bag tags.

Residents must ensure there is one metre of space between their excess bags of garbage and their garbage and organics carts.

CVC hosting gardening workshops

Credit Valley Conservation (CVC) invites landowners to its upcoming gardening workshops.

They will be able to learn how to add colour, beauty and diversity to their yard with locally native plants, rainscaping and other techniques. Participants can discover what's right for the yard, explore how to attract birds or butterflies, find the perfect shade tree or soak up rainwater.

Pre-registration is required.

Sessions on naturesscaping will be May 31 at Meadowvale Village Hall, 6970 2nd Line W, Mississauga, and June 7 at Carmen Corbasson (Cawthra) Community Centre, 1399 Cawthra Rd., Mississauga. Participants will learn how to garden with locally native trees, wildflowers and flowering shrubs that are right for their yard. Attendees can sign up to receive a free tree or shrub.

Both sessions will run from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

There will be a workshop on rainscaping June 4 at Chappell House, The Riverwood Conservancy, 4300 Riverwood Park Lane, Mississauga from 10 to 11:30 a.m. Add beauty and interest to the yard while directing and soaking up rainwater with rain gardens, soakaways, rain barrels and more. Participants can win a rainbarrel.

“The workshops are a great way for homeowners to learn about ecological landscaping,” said CVC’s Deputy CAO and Director of Watershed Transformation Mike Puddister. “We provide homeowners with the information they need to create beautiful and sustainable landscapes.”

The workshops are presented by CVC's ecological landscaping specialists and are free thanks to funding from CVC's regional and municipal partners.

its last display in the Community Hall to move into the arena.

Now, in 2016, the fair has returned to its humble beginnings.

"Change is something that we cannot always avoid," said Kevin Holmes, fair board president. "However, we need to embrace change and consider it to be a new start, or hence, a new beginning."

The Fair runs Thursday through Sunday. Ride the rides for only $2 per ride Thursday, before the action is in full swing for the weekend.

One of the highlights is the impressive Demolition Derby Friday evening, starting at 7:30 p.m. Competitors come from far and wide to see who lasts the longest

New Princess Auto

Ontario's newest Princess Auto store opens its doors in Bolton May 31.

Starting at 7 a.m. a celebratory chain in the pit.

The weekend festivities get under way Saturday at 11 a.m. with the fair parade along Main Street, which makes it way into the fairgrounds.

Opening ceremonies take place at noon at the main stage.

Visitors can take in the fair farm and petting zoo, homecraft displays, Bavarian gardens and horse pull.

A new fair ambassador will be chosen Saturday. Contestants will be introduced at 2, with the crowning of a new representative at roughly 4 p.m.

Sunday, there's a garden tractor pull, with both stock and modified machines at 2 p.m. There's also a horseshoe pitch cutting ceremony will kick off activities that will continue throughout the day for the public, including free safety

Several members of the community, including some Town councillors, got a tour of the new Princess Auto in Bolton last week. Councillor Barb Shaughnessy helped move Mayor Allan Thompson up in the world with this manual lifting table.

Humber River Shakespeare to present A Midsummer Night’s Dream

For their ninth annual summer tour, the Humber River Shakespeare Company will be presenting one of the Bard’s most beloved comedies.

A Midsummer’s Night Dream will be taking to the road, bringing the magic of outdoor theatre to communities across the area.

A Midsummer’s Night Dream is a delightful tale of meddling fairies, star-crossed lovers, royal engagements and muddled tradesmen caught up in chaos. The most popular comedy in Shakespeare’s canon, this hilarious romp has love on the loose in the woods. Add a misapplied love potion, mistaken identities and the most famous play-within-a play ever written, and there is a perfect recipe for joy and laughter.

The language, poetry and wit of Shakespeare shine as bright and as lovely as the moon in this timeless classic.

The tour will open July 5 and 6 with performances at Dick’s Dam Park in Bolton, followed by a stop July 7 at the Schomberg Fairgrounds, July 9 at Tasca Park in Nobleton and there will also be a July 14 performance at Alton Mill Arts Centre.

and 20 at Newmarket Riverwalk Commons; July 21, 22 and 23 at Thornlodge Park in Mississauga; July 24 at Montgomery’s Inn in Etobicoke; July 26 at Etienne Brulé Park in Etobicoke; July 27 and 28 at the Old Mill in Toronto and again at Montgomery’s Inn July 29, 30 and 31.

Humber River Shakespeare has been touring professional, outdoor Shakespeare to communities across the Greater Toronto Area (GTA) for nine years. Their productions are done as in Shakespeare’s day: in the open air, with simple sets, colourful costumes, a love of the language and a focus on playful storytelling.

All performances are family friendly, and offered free of charge, but donations are most gratefully accepted. The suggested donation is $20.

Blues and Jazz Festival places among Ontario’s top 100 festivals

The Orangeville Blues and Jazz Festival has been recognized by Festival and Events Ontario as part of the 2016 Top 100 Festivals and Events in Ontario (FEO).

The top 100 recipients represent festivals and event that excel within the industry.

“Our government recognizes festivals and events as important economic drivers and we’re proud to support their efforts to create jobs, grow our economy and celebrate our diverse and vibrant cultural identity,” said Tourism, Culture and Sport Minister Michael Coteau. “I am pleased to join with Festival and Events Ontario in celebrating this year’s Top 100 recipients and I congratulate them all for achieving this honour.”

grows steadily every year and we are able to present some of the very best in both local and Canadian talent.”

“It is gratifying for the Festival and our community to be recognized by the festival and events industry,” said Gary Brown, chair of the Festival’s Board of Directors. “On behalf of the Board of Directors, volunteers and supporters of the Orangeville Blues and Jazz Festival, we would like to thank our community, funders and sponsors for their significant role in creating a major FREE festival of such importance.”

The 14th Annual Orangeville Blues and Jazz Festival will take place June 2 to 5. For further information on the Festival, check out www.orangevillebluesandjazz.ca

People with Parkinson’s disease can still do a lot

By Bill Rea
April was Parkinson’s Education Month, and members of the Bolton Parkinson’s Support Group closed out the month with some inspiration from a former weightlifting champion.

Nelson Sleno of Orangeville was telling the group about his experiences living with Parkinson’s disease. He’s outlined them in two books he’s written.

Sleno, 62, was born in Montreal, and moved to Ontario in 1989.

He was a teacher for 31 years, having taught high school physical education, as well as academic subjects. He also taught behaviour management classes and eventually dealt with developmentally challenged students. He drew a lot of satisfaction from that, marvelling at the “innate courage and strength about them.”

Sleno was also, for 22 years, a competitive weightlifter at the Olympic level, as well as power lifting. He said he also dabbled for a time in body building. As well, he took up karate when he was 40, earning he second-degree black belt at 45. Then he took up judo. He also found time for mountain biking.

“I loved riding Albion Hills,” he said. “I’m an extreme type personality,” he explained. “When I do something, I go full-tilt at it.”

Sleno added that has governed his approach when dealing with the Parkinson’s.

He said he was like that in his teens. “I made a choice to turn my life around,” he explained.

He started going to a gym, and caught the eye of one of the coaches, who wanted him to be flyweight on the Olympic weight lifting team.

Sleno explained he saw adversity in the weights, and know he had beaten it when he successfully lifted it over his head. That helped him find what he had been looking for in his misspent youth.

“The feeling that I got holding that weight over my head’s a little hard to describe,” he said. “It was euphoric.”

Town ratifies agreement with CUPE Local 966

The Town of Caledon and Canadian Union of Public Employees (CUPE) Local 966 staff have ratified a four-year collective agreement.

The agreement, effective April 1, 2015 to March 31, 2019, includes a 1.5 per cent wage increase in each of the years of the contract. Other minor changes to working conditions were also negotiated, creating a new contract that is fair for the employees, reasonable and affordable for the municipality and its residents, and aligns with other comparable unionized CUPE settlements.

CUPE Local 966 represents approximately 70 outside staff in roads and fleet, arena and facility operations, and parks maintenance.

Sleno was at the Olympic trials for the 1976 Games, but broke his ankles with his last lift there. So he concentrated more on power lifting.

He observed that devoting himself to training gave him the discipline he needed to deal with 31 years of teaching.

Sleno said he was involved in an accident with a horse when he was seven, and spent two days in a coma.

“I should have died,” he said, adding the experience gave him the unconscious feeling that he was indestructible, so he took a lot of risks when he was a kid.

Sleno said he’s read about possible causes of Parkinson’s, and has learned people are more susceptible to triggers if they had experienced some sort of brain trauma. There numerous examples, including Muhammad Ali. “It could be something that allows the trigger to activate more readily,” he explained.

The first symptom of the disease Sleno experienced was a twitching in his thumb. Other symptoms included trouble sleeping, waking up frequently in the middle of the night with his left hand shaking.

He tried medication to deal with it. Sleno recalled the help he received from his doctor at the time.

“He’s terrific because he listened to me and he acknowledged I was going to be in control of my treatment program,” he remarked.

There were some bad times, apart from the diagnosis. One of them occurred in the fifth year of treatment. He was sitting reading when his left hand started trembling so much that the paper was moving. “I had gone bi-lateral,” he said.

The doctor told him that was normal. There was also a time when he became withdrawn and depressed, but he was able to address that.

“I said, ‘Get off your ass and do something useful,’” he recalled.

He went to Headwaters Health Care Centre and started volunteering, and that set of a chain of events that made him active as a speaker and writer.

Sleno has spoken to many groups. At one point, he met an 80-year-old man named Hal, and found they both had a passion for playing blues harmonicas. Sleno had played since he was 17, and Hal took him to an open-mic session, where they played for four hours.

“That harmonica became my ‘clean and jerk,’” he declared, realizing it could be a weapon against his Parkinson’s. “I had the same feeling I had when I held that weight over my head.”

Sleno also said he will be taking part in the Orangeville Jazz festival the first weekend of June, with a partner in an act they call The Long and The Short of It.

He stressed that people with problems have to do is find something they really love doing. They have to find something, make a plan and decide if they need help to do it, and then go for it. If one is not successful, they should take a step back and see what can be done to make it successful.

Nelson Sleno demonstrated his skill with a harmonica when he addressed the Bolton Parkinson’s Support Group late last month.

Editorial

Let’s de-politicize our speed limits

We suspect that few residents of today’s Ontario are aware of the fact that, at one point in the province’s history, science and testing played a role in establishing speed limits.

In response to a clamour for a departure from ultra-simple speed laws —30 miles per hour in urban areas and 50 on rural roads of every type — the government of premier John Robarts initially allowed variances that reflected the fact superhighways and gravel roads didn’t need the same limits.

The initial reform saw some busy urban arteries like Toronto’s Lake Shore Boulevard and University Avenue given higher limits of 35 or 40 m.p.h. and freeways like the Queen Elizabeth Way and Highways 400 and 401 new limits of 60 m.p.h., while some better two-lane provincial highways were posted at 55.

But that was followed up by a more significant reform, which involved police quietly monitoring highways to determine the speeds actually being driven. The result was a further revision of the speed limits, aimed at setting maxima at speeds not exceeded by 85 per cent of the drivers.

The result was a decision to raise the freeway limit to 70 m.p.h. — about 115 km/h — and to make 60 m.p.h. the standard on all major two-lane highways, including even Highway 10 south of Forks of the Credit Road, which then was a narrow, rough asphalt road with particularly narrow shoulders. (Recognizing the road’s dangerous condition, the government almost immediately launched a program to widen it to four lanes.)

The reformed speed limits remained in force until the mid-1970s, when shortages produced by an Arab oil embargo led the U.S. Congress to impose a uniform 55 m.p.h. maximum on all federal and state highways, including even the Interstate routes that in some states had limits above 70 m.p.h.

Seemingly determined to go one step further, the government of then premier Bill Davis passed a law that cut the maximum speeds on southern Ontario’s ordinary King’s Highways to 50, although the top legal speed on freeways was reduced only to 60 from 70.

South of the border, the uniform 55 m.p.h. limit has long passed into history, and today some Interstate routes are posted at 80 and most have limits of at least 70 m.p.h.

A similar phenomenon has occurred everywhere else in Canada, with 100 km/h the favoured speed limit on ordinary paved roads.

Only in Ontario are the speed laws so far removed from reality that the government has seen a need to have a “racing” law that includes loss of licence and fines of up to $50,000 for going 50 km/h above the posted limit. (And that is the consequence facing a driver in the bizarre 80 km/h zone at the north end of Highway 410 who is caught doing 130 km/h — just 10 km/h above the top limit in B.C.)

One thing that should be investigated would be the potential of introducing electronically operated variable speed limits, at least on freeways. Lower speeds would be imposed to reflect changing conditions, be it fog, whiteouts or congestion.

As we see it, the aim should be to have our speed laws reflect actual conditions rather than political expediency, with the objective of making all drivers see the wisdom of going “with the flow” rather than saving a few minutes at the risk of losing their lives and those of others.

Rotary Club of Palgrave’s Weekly Rotary Minute

By Doug Nicholson

At Rotary, we channel our commitment to service at home and abroad through five Avenues of Service, which are the foundation of club activity.

- 1. Club Service focuses on making clubs strong. A thriving club is anchored by strong relationships and an active membership development plan.
- 2. Vocational Service calls on every Rotarian to work with integrity and contribute their expertise to the problems and needs of society.
- 3. Community Service encourages every Rotarian to find ways to improve the quality of life for people in their communities and to serve the public interest.
- 4. International Service exemplifies our global reach in promoting peace and understanding. We support this service avenue by sponsoring or volunteering on international projects, seeking partners abroad and more.
- 5. Youth Service recognizes the importance of empowering youth and young professionals through leadership development programs such as Rotaract, Interact, Rotary Youth Leadership Awards and Rotary Youth Exchange.

Within these areas of service are the reasons why we all joined Rotary, but let us not forget that the vast majority of Rotarians are those who enjoy their meetings, who count their fellow Rotarians among their closest friends and feel that by being a part of such a group they can contribute something worthwhile to their community and to the world.

I would like to finish this minute with a quote from the Rotary International President of 1956-57, Gian Paolo Lang, and perhaps we should ponder the message within, “I believe Rotary is basically a simple thing, and we may be in danger of losing sight of the real object of Rotary because we become engrossed in exterior forms and procedures. We must try to free ourselves from unnecessary over structures, reclaiming the fundamentals . . . Let us be simple, for the simple way is often the best!”

How to drive in the message

Sometimes, one just has to give their head a shake.

I was thinking such things last week when I saw a news item that indicated there’s been an increase in the number of impaired driving cases dealt with by York Regional Police.

According to a press release from the police serving York, the number of charges that have been laid of late is “alarming.” They report that between April 15 and May 15, 139 people were charged with offences dealing with driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs. It has also been reported that 16 of those arrests were the result of traffic accidents. Another 107 of them were nabbed at Reduce Impaired Driving Everywhere (RIDE) spot checks. It’s also nice to see that another 16 arrests occurred because concerned citizens spotted driving behaviour they thought was suspicious and called 9-1-1.

There was an interesting YouTube video making the rounds Friday, made by a person with a Dash cam in the car. It was travelling along Eglinton Avenue in Toronto near Leaside, where I used to work (part of that stretch of Eglinton was the route I used to take to and from the office every day). There was a man and woman in the car (it’s not clear who was driving) and the vehicle they were following was being driven by a person who at least seemed to be impaired. The vehicle was doing almost a slalom course in its lane, took out some pylons and a temporary road sign, then crashed into another car. All the time, the man in the vehicle with the Dash cam was calling 9-1-1. He and the woman with him were keeping up a steady commentary on what they were seeing.

It should also be pointed out that these people were assuming they were watching the activities of an impaired driver. It is possible the strange driving was the result, for example, of some medical condition. But at least they were alerting the authorities, enabling them to do their jobs.

There is a school of thought that would say people should mind their own business. On the other hand, hazards on the public roadways are everyone’s business. The people in this video acted appropriately, and so did the other 16 referred to by the police in York.

The scary part is the 139 figure coming from York represented just 30 days of activity. And those were the impaired drivers who were caught. How many more were able to complete their journeys without encountering the police or arousing suspicion? That figure mystifies me. It should mystify us all.

Granted, we’re talking about York Region, but that’s not too far from here. If you live in Bolton, then you’re not too far from the municipal boundary with King Township, which is part of York. I ought to know. I edited a newspaper there for many years. Besides, there’s a lot of commuter traffic crossing that municipal boundary. Many of you reading this would travel through King regularly to access Highway 400 (I did Saturday), and there’s a lot going on in Caledon to attract people from King.

I also know that Caledon OPP is busy cracking down on impaired drivers.

I get a lot of press releases about how the local constabulary have apprehended another person driving under the influence, sometimes with the help of members of the public who have alerted them.

And there are spot checks. My job usually requires me to work late Tuesday nights, meaning it’s not uncommon for me to be driving home around midnight. Twice in the last couple of months I have been stopped by spot checks enroute to my Sandhill area home. No sweat. I had been working, not drinking. But it did tell me the local cops mean business.

Good on them!

I say that because it’s clear there are a lot of people in York who don’t seem to be getting the message that impaired driving is dangerous. And it doesn’t make sense to think that people in York are all that different from people in Peel, or anywhere else, for that matter.

It also doesn’t make sense that so many people don’t seem to be getting the message. It certainly can’t be the result of a lack of publicity on the issue of drinking and driving, because it draws tons of attention. In the last year, world-wide attention has been drawn to the tragedy that occurred in Vaughan, in which three beautiful children and their grandfather were killed by a drunk driver.

The company for which I work covered that case, and owing to a shortage of bodies, I found myself volunteering to be in court to cover the victim-impact statements from the parents.

I think anyone who was in court to hear the words of Jennifer Neville-Lake (the children’s mother) would almost certainly have vowed to think twice before ever getting behind the wheel with too many drinks in them. The experience was nothing short of gut-wrenching. The sounds of sniffing could be heard throughout the courtroom, and I confess I made a few contributions to that. It will be an experience no one who was there will ever be able to forget.

In my work, I have been able to see plenty of examples of what’s wrong with drinking and driving. Indeed, the first night I was interning with a paper in Caledon, I followed a fire truck to the scene of a head-on crash. The 39-year-old father of two young girls was driving home from work one Friday night and never made it. It was all because some kid had too much to drink before driving.

There have been other such incidents that I have covered over the years, as well as other accounts I have heard or read about.

Many of us take a drink, myself included. Indeed, in this very spot in the paper two weeks ago, I described my efforts (not terribly successful) to make a mint julep in honour of the Kentucky Derby. The one point that I didn’t stress in that column is I waited until well into the evening before making the attempt. I was home for the night, was not planning to go out again. Thus the only real victim of my drinking at the time would have been my liver, and my taste buds (that was quite possibly my last mint julep).

There are many ways to make sure you avoid driving if you’ve had more to drink than you should, such as finding other transportation, getting someone else to drive, finding some place to crash, etc. At certain times of the year, HomeJames is available. I’ve put in a number of shifts with the service. It’s a lot of fun, and you know you’re providing a valuable service.

There are some who would argue the solution is to make the penalties harsher. I don’t think that’s the answer. A person caught drinking and driving now is in for one hell of a mess. If they haven’t got the message now, I’m having trouble figuring out what more sanctions are going to accomplish.

Maybe introduce them the families of people who have been killed by impaired drivers.

That might help.

There must be a referendum on electoral reform

Ministers Dominic LeBlanc and Maryam Monsef announced May 10 the Liberal government’s plan for a special Parliamentary committee to study changes to the voting system, and to have that committee report back to the House by Dec. 1, 2016.

The process set out by the Liberals is entirely unacceptable and stacks the deck in their favour. In effect, they are attempting to rig the 2019 election.

The Conservative Party insists that Canadians must have the final say, in a national referendum, on any proposed changes to how Canadians elect their MPs. Whatever the plan, and whatever the process, Canadians want a vote — yes or no — before the government tries to change the voting system. That is what Canadians deserve from their government, and that is what the Conservative Party will continue to push for. When a government wants to change the basic rules of democracy, everyone must have a say. All options should be on the table, and Canadians should not be denied the choice to say “No.”

Our best examples of voting system consultations in Canada — the citizens’ assemblies of British Columbia and Ontario, and the in-depth studies in Prince

OTTAWA JOURNAL

David Tilson
MP Dufferin-Caledon

Edward Island — all concluded with a referendum. That’s the standard of behaviour that Canadians now expect. No government in Canada has tried to impose a new voting system without a referendum since the early 1950s. The last time it was tried, the politicians were rigging the system. Voters saw this and rightly punished them for it.

A referendum on the Liberal plan is the only way to ensure any change has the clear support of Canadians, and that the government’s plan is fair and transparent. A near-consensus of editorial and opinion commentary has urged the government to put any proposal to a referendum. Recent polling confirms that Canadians want the same thing: they want a vote. The Prime Minister has been clear in saying that he won’t hold a referendum because he doesn’t think he can win one. The Prime Minister simply doesn’t trust Canadians to give him the right answer.

This government has already developed a track record of promises broken for convenience, and without remorse. I have no faith that this Liberal government will deliver on its promises of open-mindedness, and thorough, fair consultations with Canadians on electoral reform.

A committee of 10 parliamentarians, no matter the makeup, is not, and never will be, a substitute for all Canadians having their voices heard directly in a referendum. Providing only seven months for this committee to report its findings, on such a broad range of topics, and after more than six months of delay, is disrespectful to Parliament and to Canadians who want their voices heard. The government could have chosen to make the votes of all Canadians count when forming this committee. Instead, the Liberals chose to entrench their majority and deny committee voting rights to fully half of the opposition parties. The Liberals have ensured they can impose their pre-determined agenda on this committee, and have given opposition parties no meaningful way to ensure that the committee’s recommendations are reflective of the will of Canadians.

The principles put forth by the government — which were eight, but are now seven, grouped under five headings — are contradictory, and therefore are nothing less than an exercise in Liberal vanity, crafted to allow the government to justify the pre-determined outcome it intends to impose on Canadians. This government is cynical and shameless when it asserts a mandate to impose change that is the result of a parliamentary majority it clearly believes to be ill-gotten under the current voting system. It cannot have things both ways. Remember, only 39.5 per cent of Canadians voted for the Liberals nationally. This does not equate to a mandate to unilaterally change our electoral system.

Wynne Liberals vote down motion for autism support tabled by PC caucus

On May 17, the Wynne Liberals voted down a motion from the Ontario PC Caucus that called for the government to provide support for all children with autism.

Our motion stated: “The Legislative Assembly of Ontario accepts that autism doesn’t end at the age of five;

The Legislative Assembly of Ontario accepts that Intensive Behavioural Intervention (IBI) therapy is statistically effective at improving the development of autistic children of any age; and The Legislative Assembly of Ontario supports restoring funding for IBI therapy for children over the age of 5.”

Members from both the NDP and PC

FROM QUEEN’S PARK

Sylvia Jones
MPP Dufferin-Caledon

Caucuses spoke in support of the motion and shared personal stories of families impacted by the government’s decision.

Currently, 85 per cent of children receiving IBI therapy are five and older. As a result of the government’s decision, approximately 3,500 children who are currently receiving therapy or on the waitlist will lose out on accessing this scientifically-proven therapy.

I am disappointed the government ignored experts and thousands of parents and chose to vote down our motion to help our province’s children.

Children over the age of five still have special needs the province must address, and IBI therapy has shown to help improve the lives of children of all ages, to allow them to communicate with their family, succeed in school and thrive in our communities.

No child should be left behind in receiving the necessary support they deserve. That is why my Leader Patrick Brown has promised an Ontario Progressive Conservative government will reinstate IBI therapy for children over the age of five, because we know autism doesn’t end at five.

Caledon’s Town Crier Andrew Welch takes first place

The Official Town Crier of Caledon was declared overall winner of last weekend’s Provincial Championships, run by the Ontario Guild of Town Criers.

Andrew Welch, who was appointed Town Crier by Caledon council in 2011, edged out both the current world champion and last year’s provincial winner by very small margins to take the win. The event was staged in Perth as part of its 200th anniversary celebrations.

There are about 50 officially-appointed members in the Ontario Guild, giving the province the highest per capita presence of criers in the world. Most earn their keep by presiding at civic ceremonies, opening new businesses, and bringing a air of pageantry and heritage to major events in their municipalities. Proclamation fees then support their travel to represent their municipality at crier events provincially or even internationally.

Ontario town criers gather a few times a year to promote their home town in public competition. Welch has represented Caledon at more than a dozen such events all over the province, and this is just his second overall win. Criers are judged on a variety of aspects of the vocation. For the Perth tournament, they were challenged to write three proclamations: one to introduce their home town, a second to promote a local Perth business, and a third to share some important aspect of Perth’s 200-year-old history. Competitors are then scored on their content, their presence, their vocal delivery, and their accuracy.

Aside from friendly bragging rights, the major objectives of the criers attending these gatherings are to promote the craft of town crying and to promote the municipalities they represent. Beyond the hometown proclamation extolling Caledon’s attractions, Welch’s responsibilities include wandering the host community in full uniform for the whole weekend, creating many opportunities for interactions with residents and visitors from all over.

It’s the human connection that keeps Caledon’s first and only town crier on the job.

“Sure, Town council can deliver a message more efficiently on a website or in a pamphlet,” Welch said, “but faces really light up when the words of a well-written proclamation are lifted from scroll to the public ear. Afterwards, everyone wants their picture taken with the town crier. It’s not just another opening ceremony.”

He added he was hopeful that this win will also serve to underscore that Caledon is not just another town.

Welch’s accomplishment drew praise from Caledon council.

Councillor Doug Beffort brought the matter up at Tuesday’s meeting.

“I think we should be very proud,” he remarked. “It’s just great that we got this kind of reception.”

We’ve seen the real Trudeau

So much for the sunny ways.

Prime Minister Peter Pan, it seems, allowed his inner teacher to flood his good judgment last week when he barrelled across the Commons floor and attempted to use physical force to drag Tory House Leader Gord Brown to his seat away from a gaggle of NDP MPs who were milling about in front of their seats.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

In the process, as you likely know, he used foul language in ordering other politicians out of the way and managed to elbow NDP MP Ruth Ellen Brosseau square in the chest, causing her to visibly wince and ultimately leave the Chamber to compose herself.

Trudeau subsequently offered a series of lame semi-apologies for his bully-boy behaviour, but the fact remains he is the first prime minister in our history to resort to physical manhandling to hasten a vote that he wanted to get passed.

Now there’s a record to be proud of.

As you’d expect, some of the opposition have exploited Trudeau’s unseemly behaviour, including the lament from one female NDP MP that women can no longer feel safe in the Commons. Really?

Clearly, Trudeau did not intentionally elbow Brosseau. And just as clearly — despite some nasty innuendo from Trudeau apologists — Brosseau was not faking it when she grabbed her chest and turned away in obvious pain from the blow. But the elbow would never have happened had Trudeau acted like a civilized person, let alone a prime minister, and not physically assaulted the opposition.

The problem with all this emphasis on whether or not he meant to hit Brosseau, and whether or not she was really hurt, and whether or not that indicates an unsafe workspace for women (keeping in mind also, that it was a man, i.e. Gord Brown, that he actually targeted), takes away from the real issue here. To wit: who on earth does Trudeau think he is? In other words, we have seen the real Trudeau, and it isn’t Mr. Sunshine from the campaign.

Stephen Harper, even on his worst day of muscling legislation through the Commons, never resorted to actual physical intimidation to get his way. And if he had, the Toronto Star and others would still be writing stories about it to this day.

The fact is, the opposition politicians had only been milling about for less than a minute before Trudeau — apparently forgetting all those campaign promises about decorum and decency in the Commons — left his seat and charged across the floor.

Ever since Parliament began, opposition politicians have lingered when there is a vote coming up that they particularly don’t like and that they know, arithmetic being what it is, they’ll lose when it gets down to counting heads.

And really, when it gets down to it, does it really matter if a vote is a few minutes later than the government had hoped?

Then again, as sometime happens, a considerable amount of good came out of this unparliamentary event.

First, it undercut the fairy tale nature of Trudeau and his new government, revealing once again that when it comes to entitlement, nobody feels entitled to their entitlements (to quote a former Liberal cabinet minister) as Liberals do.

Second, it meant the withdrawal of an extraordinarily undemocratic motion to transfer historical powers from the elected Commons to decide on procedural affairs to Trudeau’s own cabinet ministers, a faint echo of Trudeau’s father, Pierre’s oft-repeated sentiment that MPs are “nobodies” once they leave the Hill.

It also means the Liberals will not likely be able to ram their controversial assisted suicide law — or, more accurately, state-induced death bill — through the Commons in time for the Supreme Court’s arbitrary June 6 deadline. It is because of this deadline that Trudeau was attempting to remove any opposition say in procedural matters.

It’s not the actual elbow shot that people remember most out of this incident. It’s the fact that Trudeau is a bully, and worse, was only upset because he wanted to use his majority to squash the historical rights of opposition parties — who, keep in mind, are also elected representatives — to have any say in how legislation proceeds into actual law.

Much was written about Harper’s so-called “undemocratic” tendency. But, as we’ve said, he never tried anything as blatant and undemocratic as Trudeau’s attempted power grab.

And he certainly never laid any hands on the opposition to get his way.

Caledon Town Crier Andrew Welch (second from right) was the overall winner at the Provincial Championships, run by the Ontario Guild of Town Criers. On hand for the award presentation were Crier Brent McLaren (Town Crier of Perth and competition host), Crier Bill McKee and Crier Chris Whyman holding the Guild trophy.

Junior C Bandits secure their second win over Shelburne Vets

By Jake Courtepatte

Following a slow start to the Ontario Junior C Lacrosse League season, the Caledon Bandits seem to have found answers on both ends of the floor.

The Bandits won their second game in a row last Tuesday at Mayfield Arena, a 7-2 victory over the Shelburne Vets, thanks to some spectacular goaltending.

Caledon controlled the play from the opening draw, taking a 1-0 lead into first intermission. They scored five unanswered goals in the second, with Jordan

Roswell maintaining a shutout between the Caledon pipes until the four minute mark of the third period.

Shelburne added one more with 14 seconds left in the game.

Colin Sinclair and Jarrett Petrie led the charge for the Bandits, notching three points each. Petrie has been spectacular offensively for the Bandits this season, now with 11 goals and eight assists through the first six games.

They closed the week in Brantford Friday to face the Warriors, the second meeting of the year between the teams. An improved Bandits squad took the Warriors to overtime, where Brantford scored the winning goal eight minutes in.

Sam McCanna had four points for the Bandits in the 9-8 losing effort.

After starting out the 2016 season on a three-game slide, the Bandits have improved to 2-4 to sit seventh in the nine-team West Division of the OJCLL. Tuesday evening (after press time) opened a five-game home stand for the Bandits, who next face the Wilmot Wild Friday night at 8p.m.

It should be noted that there is a change of venue, with the game being played at the Caledon Community Complex instead of the usual Mayfield arena.

Bolton Dodgers winless through first two games of NDBL season

By Jake Courtepatte

The Bolton Dodgers could find success neither on the road nor at home in the first week of the North Dufferin Baseball League season.

Bolton's AA senior representatives were blown out 11-0 by the Ivy Leafs last week, and fell short of a comeback in a 3-2 loss to the Orangeville Giants in their home opener.

Veteran pitcher Shawn English was tagged for the loss at Victoria Park in Ivy, sharing the brunt with another veteran on the mound Tysen Hansen. English gave up six runs over the first five innings of work, while Hansen was the victim of five in the sixth and final inning.

The Dodgers managed just two hits in the contest, off the bats of power hitter Michael Gemmiti Shawn Hansen.

In their first game at North Hill Park in Bolton, the Dodgers were a much different team. Both they and the Giants remained scoreless through the first two innings, when Bolton's Jon Bloomfield came in for the first run of the game.

Starting pitcher Ron DiPalma was perfect until the fourth inning, when a string of hits brought in three runs for the Giants. Though he followed up with two more innings of shutout ball, followed by a perfect seventh inning from Shawn Hansen, the Dodgers could manage only one more run in the seventh scored by Marlon Young.

Bolton outhit Orangeville by a total of 5-3 in the contest.

Knights holding Soccer Challenge

The Knights of Columbus of St. John Albion Catholic Church will be hosting a Soccer Challenge June 4.

It will be at the Caledon Sports Complex, beside the arena at Caledon Community Complex in Caledon East.

Don Stacey said it will be for boys and girls, aged nine to 14, and it will be free.

The event will open at 8:15 a.m., with the competition starting at 9. Sign-up forms are available through Caledon Soccer Club or at St. Cornelius Elementary School.

For more information, contact Stacey at 905-880-5074, or Ed Rooney at 905-584-0404.

Final chance to register for Sunday's C3 Caledon Kids of Steel Triathlon

Race entries are coming in big numbers as C3 prepares for Sunday's 16th annual Kinetico Kids of Steel Triathlon. Numerous unique situations are unfolding with long-time C3 pro Sean Bechtel having his son Ross, 2, preparing for his second ever Kids of Steel Race, and 60-year-old Hans Porten preparing for his 12th race.

Andrew Yorke racing in Yokohama, Japan. Picture from Delly Carr

"Our event has something for everyone, but the priority is fun, inspiration and the opportunity to really make this a very positive weekend for everyone in the region," said Olympic bound Barrie Shepley. Shepley will be in Rio in August doing CBC coverage and is excited that he will be back on the finish line microphone for the 16th annual event. The May 29 race will have some of the top pros in the world coming out for the day to cheer on the kids and families. Andrew Yorke, Sean Bechtel and Sadie Holmes are just a few of the international pros who will be in attendance Sunday. As a special inspiration for getting families involved in the race, C3 will be drawing for some Free Rio Olympic Swag for those who register by Friday night (May 27).

The entire event takes place at Mayfield Recreation Complex. With help from Kinetico, Royal Containers, Benson Steel, Caledon Hills Cycle Shop, Skechers Shoes, Louis Garneau and Cervelo Bikes, it will be a world-class day for families. C3 is still in need of some volunteers and participants. Details for registration are at www.c3online.ca and those wanting to volunteer should email Joyce Lang at jslang@rogers.com. C3 Olympic hopeful, Andrew Yorke said that without C3 and the Kids of Steel Race, he would never have had a chance to race at the Pan Am Games, The Commonwealth Games and his goal of the Olympic Games. "The incredible help that Stewart Barclay, Kim Nelson, Steve Benson, Phillip Adsetts, coach Barrie and all of C3 has been invaluable to my career development," said the Caledon East native. "I know there are future champions living in our town and we just need to give them a chance to have some fun in our local race and realize their talents." Yorke will be pulling some names in a draw Sunday at noon to see who will get some free Rio Olympic Swag that Shepley will be picking up when he is in Rio in August. Adults and older kids will be starting their competition at 8 a.m. The opening ceremonies will be at 12:30 p.m., when the younger kids start. Those in the three to six age group will start at 12:45 p.m., with the pros going off at 1:30. Details to register are at www.c3online.ca/index.php/events/33-kinetico-kids-of-steel-triathlon-in-caledon

St. Michael Thunder moving on in Tier 1 soccer finals

By Jake Courtepatte
The St. Michael Thunder of Bolton are proving to be a top contender among the Region of Peel's most elite high school soccer teams. The boys' squad had a come-from-behind win in their opening ROPSSAA quarter-final match, a 2-1 victory over the St. Augustine Falcons of Brampton. The Falcons took an early lead 20 minutes into the match, and held it into half-time despite St. Michael attempting the majority of scoring chances. The home team was able to tie it up just a few short minutes into the second half, however, on a second chance on net following a nice cross. A scramble in front of the Augustine net then gave the Thunder the lead in the dying minutes of the match.

A tense moment arose with less than five minutes to go, when the Falcons were awarded a penalty kick after a player was taken down inside the box. Goalkeeper Nick Frenati made a highlight-reel diving save, and the Falcons sent the rebound high and wide. The Thunder meet St. Edmund Campion at the Hershey Centre later this week.

The St. Edmund crew won their quarter-final match up over St. Marguerite D'Youville 7-1. In the Tier 2 playoffs, Caledon's Robert F. Hall Wolfpack were sent home in a quarter-final match up with Turner Fenton. The sixth-seeded Hall team were upset 3-2 by the 11th-seeded Fenton team. For scores, visit www.ropssaa.org

The St. Michael Thunder (blue) defeated St. Augustine in Bolton last Wednesday to move on to the second round of the tier one ROPSSAA playoffs.

OBITUARIES

OBITUARIES

BULNES, William Patrick (Bill)
January 14, 1926 -
May 21, 2016.

WW II Veteran - served in Germany and Holland. Member of the Orangeville Royal Canadian Legion.

It is with heartfelt sadness that we announce the passing of Bill on Saturday, May 21, 2016 at Headwaters Health Care Centre with his loving wife and soulmate Pat by his side. Dear father of Barbara (Ray) Ouellette and their son Chris, Ottawa; sons Wayne (Debbie) and their children Cheryl, Heather, and Scott of Greenfield Park, Quebec; Bruce (Louise) and their children Amy, and Brian of Summerside, PEI. Will be missed by his grandchildren. Brother of Amy Gibson (John-deceased). Predeceased by his first wife May and their oldest son Keith and Bill's siblings Fred, John, Frank and Nellie. Bill will be missed by his Legion comrades, neighbours and friends. Many thanks to the staff of D & E Wing at Headwaters Health Care Centre for their personal attention and care. Special thanks to our neighbours Sharon and Brian Demanche who helped out over the years including during the March 2016 ice storm. Gratitude to Louise Phillips who would come to help on short notice. A huge thanks to Dave the paramedic who not only responded to our calls but went out of his way to get services that would help Bill stay at our home safe and comfortable. Thanks to Chris, President of the Orangeville Legion who gave Bill lifts from the hospital. Special thanks to my sisters Shannon and Karen who continuously sent Bill cards and gifts. He loved receiving mail. Bill's ashes will travel to Pointe Claire, Quebec National Field of Honour. Cremation has already taken place.

Visitation will be held at the Dods & McNair Funeral Home, Chapel & Reception Centre, 21 First Street, Orangeville on Saturday, June 11, 2016 from 10 am to 11 am. Funeral Service will be held at Dods & McNair Funeral Home, Chapel & Reception Centre, 21 First Street, Orangeville, Ontario L9W 2C8 on Saturday, June 11, 2016 at 11:00 am. A Legion Service will be conducted just prior to the funeral service. A reception will follow the funeral service. Memorial donations to the Royal Canadian Legion Branch 233 would be appreciated by the family.

A tree will be planted in memory of Bill in the Dods & McNair Memorial Forest at the Island Lake Conservation Area, Orangeville. A dedication service will be held on Sunday, September 11, 2016 at 2:30 p.m.

Condolences may be offered to the family at www.dodsandmcnair.com

NEWELL, Jud

Suddenly at North York General Hospital, on Saturday, May 21, 2016, Jud Newell, at the age of 70 years, beloved husband of Brenda. Father of Jay and his wife Sherill, Allan and his wife Lauren, Sarah, Diana, William, and step-father of Michael and his wife Amanda. The family will receive their friends at the Egan Funeral Home, 203 Queen Street S., Bolton, Friday evening 5 - 8 o'clock. Memorial service will be held in The Cathedral Church of St. James, 65 Church Street (at King), Toronto on Monday morning, May 30 at 11 o'clock.
